

A Walk with Me

By: Maria Deray

*Look me in the eyes,
and tell me without lies.
You don't know what I'm going through,
'coz you never had a clue.
You've live your life in glee,
where everything is handed to thee.
You've been blessed all your life,
while I've been struggling to thrive.
But no matter what you think,
I have to act and be quick.
Because my future depends on me,
not on what you think it might be.
To you I might seem vulnerable,
but that's only telling you I am able.
I've drawn strengths from my weaknesses,
and start practicing mindfulness.
I start to breathe with ease,
when you lend me your golden ears.
You start listening with your heart,
and it gave me a brand new start.
I've notice my life is easier,
as you walk with me closer.*
